There is loads of character packed into this exquisite early 1900s residence - you'll never want to leave. Think polished pine floorboards, panelled walls and doors, high ceilings, glorious open fire place complete with mantle and mirror, and period lighting - these are just some of the gorgeous features. The interior offers three bedrooms and a separate studio/home office, with the options of a B & B perhaps, or a home and business combined - the choices are endless. The as new kitchen is a bright space with ample storage, gas cooktop, polished-concrete floors and stainless steel dishwasher. Ducted heating and evaporative cooling are installed. The lounge/family room has floor-to ceiling windows which frame the views to the rear courtyard garden. The L-shaped verandahs, complete with art deco trims on the fret boards and timber floors, overlook the touch of Tuscany in the cottage gardens, which offers a practical array of herbs for the resident chef.
